

Inclusive Culture – Khai

Meet Khai – Graduate, Singapore

The main thing that attracted me to join HSBC is mainly because of the people here. So, I've done an internship here and I've experienced how the culture is like.

It feels comfortable to be with everyone around you and whenever you have any questions, you can easily reach out to them.

Because of this programme, I actually have the chance to go to Hong Kong for regional training. And from there I get to interact with people from Singapore, from different departments, as well as people and other graduates from different countries including China, India and Hong Kong. I get to know them on a personal level is something that I really enjoy.

I hope the programme will allow me to have the chance to understand what are the products offered in the bank and how is it like to work with my team as well as work with different teams so that eventually I can better equip myself to become a Relationship Manager.

I personally would say that I'm enjoying my time here and really learning the most with the team. So, that's why, why not give yourself the chance to experience this programme as well.
